

Ryan's Biography

Short Bio

Ryan's culinary journey began as a teenager after watching the great chefs and personalities on TV. This led him to the Culinary Arts program at Johnson & Wales. After graduating with honors, Ryan worked in countless restaurants, at 5 Star Hotels, and operated 4 restaurants. Other owners took note of his success and began seeking his advice. As The Restaurant Boss, Ryan is the most followed restaurant coach in the world and a professional speaker, helping Restaurant Owners and Operators increase profits, improve operations, and scale and grow their businesses.

Long Bio

Ryan Gromfin is an author, speaker, chef, restaurateur, and founder of TheRestaurantBoss.com, ClickBacon.com, and ScaleMyRestaurnt.com. Ryan has helped thousands of Restaurant Owners and Operators all over the world turn their businesses into profitable ventures.

While other kids were watching Nickelodeon, he was watching the Food Network (okay, he watched Nickelodeon too). The great chefs and TV personalities sparked a deep love in Ryan for all things food and restaurant. His first jobs were at luxury country clubs and hotels before he could even drive himself to work.

After receiving top honors from Johnson & Wales University in Culinary Arts, Ryan continued his work in 5 Star Hotels. How he got from there to here is a long story to be told over a beer, but the short version is that while in charge of operating 4 restaurants, other owners took note of his success and started to reach out and seek his advice.

As The Restaurant Boss, Ryan is the most followed restaurant coach in the world and a professional speaker, helping Restaurant Owners and Operators increase profits, improve operations, and scale and grow their businesses.
